Dann Cow Again Leads

There are 563 cows on test with 101 dry cows in the Southern Steuben D. H. I. A., according to the report of Robert Drake, tester for the association. Robert Dann of Painted Post has high cow for butterfat and milk. This fine Holstein cow produced 78.4 pounds of butterfat from 2241 pounds of milk during the month of March. This cow again beats her last three months record, she was milking 72 ponds of milk a day in March compared to February daily milking of 70 pounds.

The following members of the association have honor roll cows:

Edwin C. Smith, 2; C. A. Stewart & Son, 12; H. D. Grist, 4; Ames Button, 5; Raymond Jordan, 2; A. H. Olmsted, 10; Henry Bottum, 1; G. M. Stuart, 2; E. H. Ackerman, 5; Leo Gorges, 1; Archie Blend, 2; L. H. Brotzman, 1; Gus Neilitz, 2; R. F. Ingersoll, 5; A. E. Scudder, 14; Robert Dann, 31; Wilson Bennett, 22; Leon Andrews, 2; Frank Young, 6; Alvord Kemp, 4.

The tester gives the five high herds based on butterfat as follows:

Owner	Cows	Fat	Milk
Ames Button	11	35.6	1036.1
Robert Dann	65	35.2	999.3
C.A.Stewart & Son	24	34.7	1030.0
E. H. Ackerman	16	33.7	920.5
Wilson Bennett	52	33.1	874.9

The members of this association extend sympathy to Leon Andrews and Lloyd Brotzman, and hope they will soon recover from their operations.

A. C. McCarthy of Elmira was in town on business Tuesday.

WHY MR. JONES HAS SO MANY WRINKLES

Someone asked Mr. Jones why he looked so worried, and this was his reply:

"I married a widow with a grown daughter, my father fell in love with my step-daughter and married her—thus becoming my son-in-law; and my step-daughter became my mother because she was my father's wife.

"My wife gave birth to a son, which was my father's brother-in-law and my uncle, for he was the brother of my step-mother.

"My father's wife became the mother of a son. He was, of course my brother and also my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter.

"Accordingly my wife was my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time. And as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I AM MY OWN GRANDFATHER!"

Committee Appointments Made By Addison Village Board

Russell B. Allen, member of the Addison village board of trustees for the past two years, who was defeated for renomination at the caucus of the Democratic party preceeding the recent village election was named at Monday's organization meeting of the new board to fill the vacancy in the village governing body caused by the recent resignation of George Hargrave. Mr. Allen will serve the remaining twelve months of Mr. Hargrave's uncompleted term. Bert F. Harry was named street commissioner, succeeding J. W. Morris, and Elmer C. Bovee was designated to succeed himself at the head of the Addison police department.

Following a brief session of the old board consisting of Mayor Sisto and Trustees Reynolds, Allen and Dininny at which bills submitted during the past month were approved, the new board convened for its organization meeting. Hubert Orr and Norman Phelps, Sr., successful candidates in the recent village election were introduced by Mayor Sisto and took their places around the table with the mayor and Trustee Reynolds, the only holdover from the old board. The mayor then announced that the filling of the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Hargrave would be first on the order of business. One ballot was taken, Mr. Allen receiving all three of the votes cast.

Following a brief discussion it was mutually agreed that the custom in vogue for several years of according to the mayor the privilege of naming the chief of police and each of the trustees the privilege of naming a member of the police department would be continued. Mayor Sisto thereupon announced the reappointment of Chief Bovee; Trustee Reynolds named Earl Greengrass; Trustee Allen named Clarence Bullock; Trustee Phelps named Ira Halinen and Trustee Orr named Lewis Hill. All of the policemen designated were members of the force during the past year. Upon motion of Trustee Reynolds, Wilfred M. Miller was reappointed clerk, treasurer and collector.

The following committee appointments were announced by Mayor Sisto: streets, Trustees Reynolds and Allen; parks, Trustee Reynolds; fire, Trustee Orr; City Hall, Trustee Phelps; sidewalks and sewers, Trustees Allen and Orr. Three applications were read for the position of street commissioner. A vote of the board showed two votes in favor of Bert F. Harry, one in favor of Jeffrey W. Morris and one for Arthur Rice. The appointment of Mr. Harry was then announced.

The tentative village budget of $14,837.50 was read and approved. Upon motion of Trustee Reynolds, it was voted to purchase three hundred feet of fire hose at 97 cents a foot. Upon motion of Mr. Allen it was voted to purchase a Chevrolet fire truck chassis from B. W. Chatfield for the Welles Hose Co. at a price of $580.

Melvin Murray appeared before the board to request that a sidewalk be constructed between his residence on Water Street and the Pepper Bakery. He also asked for the customary rebate from the village for the sidewalk built some time ago in front of his own residence. His requests were referred to Trustee Orr of the sidewalks committee for adjustment.

Village Clerk Miller reported that a cash balance of $297.94 of the village funds remained. This sum being deemed insufficient to carry through until tax money is received in June, it was voted to borrow $2000 on a short term loan at the First National Bank for the purpose of meeting current expenses.

Wages of the street commissioner were established at forty cents an hour and the rate of labor on street projects was set at thirty cents an hour. A tentative date for the annual clean-up was set for early May. The date, however, will not be definitely announced until after the next meeting of the board four weeks hence. It was decided to offer the old Ford Model T truck for sale to the highest bidder. Definite details of the sale will be worked out followinig the arrival of the Chevrolet truck.

The following bills were approved by the old board at a brief session preceeding the meeting of the new board: John Gilbert, Riverside Garage, $3.50; Steuben Water Works, hydrant rental, $433.75; Edward Watkins, repairs to hose and nozzle, $3.00; John W. Russ, supplies for fire truck, $4.66; Mrs. Florence Newman, custodian of voting machines, $7.50; New York Central Electric Co., $301.89; Addison Home Telephone Co., $10.50; Southern Tier News, printing, $9.44; S. M. LaGrange, $0.44; M. G. Hubbs, $0.25; Fred G. Clark, $11.50.

PRIVATE BUSINESS MUST AWAKEN

Many persons in this state have been contacted the past few weeks by a newly formed association for the revival of private business. Judged by the literature sent out, this association is a non-partisan group organized for the purpose of restoring normal conditions by waking up our almost forgotten individual initiative.

It will doubtless be recognized some twenty years hence when the history of this depression is reviewed, that we passed through a number of cycles, every one of which either worked towards the restoration of prosperity, or drove us deeper into the mire. This has given rise to a number of dips and inclines in business conditions interspersed by periods of sluggish inactivity reflecting government actions that conflicted with one or stunted private progress by government interference with private initiative.

Thousands of people, not only business men but observers and commentators upon national affairs, are firmly of the opinion this depression has been needlessly prolonged by the nostrums concocted to cure it. The conviction held by many from the first, that like a fever depression must run its course, is now believed by numbers of persons who once believed government remedies might shorten our national suffering. Generally we are coming to see tinkering with the laws of Nature on the plea of helping the farmer, creating monopolies of big business at the expense of the small industry are mere sedatives to put us asleep for a little while without remedying the ailment eating out our vitals. When Congress appropriates billions for relief, and this relief fund passing through countless amateur agencies is thinned down to about eight per cent of the original by the time it reaches those for whom it was nominally intended, intelligent people are beginning to realize a depression cannot be cured by spending.

A country which has been sick for years with mal-nutrition, is fast becoming nauseated by experimental notions cooked by amateurs which in most cases have turned out to be emetics. Hence it is high time someone came to the front to speak a good word for private business which has been under the lash for so much of the duration of this Administration. In the long run private individuals—common, every day persons like you and your neighbor, will be called upon to pay the price of all this experimental philandering. There will be no fairy godmother rising up to wave her magic wand when the time arrives for paying off this staggering debt the Washington army has been so busily piling up the past two years.

This being true—and the most ruthless experimenter has never had the temerity to deny it—then the time has more than arrived when private individuals should assert themselves and the rank and file of business should make a noise loud enough to be heard on both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington.

Experiments worked with tax-payers' money, whether they be partial successes or total failures are exepnsive luxuries for dying men to dabble in. We as a people have been so long upon the government operating table while the Intellectuals extracted first our teeth, our appendix, our tonsils and our stomach. Now if these professed surgeons attempt to remove our American gall, they will have stripped from our inwards the last trace of independence which stood the Colonials in hand as they mustered courage to stand up to the British regulars.

May the people of this state and the nation have the courage to stand by their convictions and call "halt" to this insensate butchering of American anatomy! One way to constructively help ourselves and our neighbors back on the high road to normal conditions is to ally ourselves with the Association for Private Initiative.

GROSS EVILS

While we decry the ruthless destruction of property which took place in New York's teeming colored section, the Harlem, perhaps its occurrence will focus public attention upon a condition any socially minded person must declare is both inhuman and intolerable.

New York employs few colored domestics or unskilled laborers and among Harlem's 250,000 negroes only some 15,000 are regularly employed. Stores and markets in the Harlem are practically all owned by whites who charge excessively high prices for food and merchandise, and segregated negroes cannot trade elsewhere. Rents are 15 to 20 per cent higher than in other parts of the city for like quarters with the result families have doubled up until the population is 222 to the acre—75% higher than the rest of Manhattan, Crowding and mal-nutrition have caused an appalling health situation with tuberculosis causing 250 deaths out of every 1000. Only two assemblymen are allowed the great population to call out this injustice.

Such intolerable conditions, called to public attention by these riots should demand rectification of gross evils which have been foisted upon the city's colored population.

REAPPORTIONMENT HOPES

After several years of partisan squabble over the question of legislative reapportionment and the deadlock which has existed in Albany this session, it is refreshing to see indications of coalition of forward-looking legislators of the two parties.

When control of both the Senate and Assembly fell into Democratic hands this year it was freely predicted reapportionment would go through with flying colors, to the detriment of people living in up-state New York. As Democrats were in power in both houses and a Democratic governor sat in the executive mansion, everything pointed in that direction, until it became evident that all was not harmonious in the Democratic camp. The trouble has been Boss Farley wanted reapportionment which would clip the wings of his Tammany rivals while the latter had no appetite for voting for a measure to cut down the number of seats controlled from the great Wigwam.

Coupled with this strife over rearrangement of representation in Greater New York was the "picklement" of certain Democratic members from up-state, to whom reapportionment spelled the certainty of lost districts. Meanwhile the Republican minority in both Assembly and Senate has stood firmly together. Boss Farley raged at his partymen, threatening them with the doom of lost patronage, all without avail. Governor Lehman lashed out as viciously as possible with his paper whip, but still the recalcitrants in the Assembly were moved more by private considerations, than by love of party solidarity. Then came the proposal which holds the seeds of hope to all up-state people, regardless of political affiliations.

The old saying that "politics make queer bedfellows" was never truer than in this case, for the new hope of untangling the reapportionment mess lays in a coalition of Tammany Democrats and Republicans. Briefly the plan calls for shelving the grossly unfair apportionment measure of Boss Farley and Governor Lehman, and substituting therefor a constitutional convention next year where a plan would be launched to place the Legislature on the same basis as Congress. Each county regardless of size would be entitled to one senator, while assemblymen would be apportioned to districts in accordance with population.

Unquestionably this is the fairest proposal which has yet arisen in the reapportionment struggle. It would afford a balancing of power between up-state sections and the metropolitan districts which would remove many of the legislative dangers facing residents of rural New York if Farley were allowed his way for securing permanent control of both houses of the Legislature. With that plan in force the Senate would be almost surely a Republican body while the Assembly would be almost surely a Democratic body, leaving the balance of power in the hands of whichever party was able to elect a Governor. It would tend to cut down the danger of graft always present when one party continuously controls the legislative machinery of a state. It would lessen the danger of New York City politicians saddling up-state citizens with statutes highly detrimental to them, and would in the same manner protect residents of the great city from legislation too distinctly favorable to rural New York, if the Republicans should ever gain control of both houses and the Governor's chair.

The proposed coalition of Democrats and Republicans for revamping our legislative representation is the fairest proposal yet brought to light. It is doubtful if Governor Lehman would be willing to scrap his own measure for it, but the firmness of the Republican minority aided by a few Democrats can bring it to pass. It should be favored by every voter in up-state New York regardless of his political affiliations for it is the one possible safeguard to the rights of citizens threatened with domination by politicians of our mammoth city.

"APRIL FOOL" JOKE

The man who notified a radio station recently that he intended to murder his young son and commit suicide on April 1, has apparently been dissuaded from the deed. The direful letter-writer had insisted he would kill the boy so his son would not have to live alone, as he himself saw no reason for living longer.

It is probable this man was demented or he would not have contemplated this act in the first place. Dementia is a form of insanity responsible, undoubtedly, for a large percentage of the suicides. Yet the greatest pity about this affliction comes when the demented persons determine someone else shall die at the same time they do. It is something difficult to guard against as no one can read the mind of one with brain disorders. Had this man's intentions carried it would have been a monstrous "April Fool" joke.

THE MODERN PEACE DOVE

High Wages and Falling Prices

By MARK SULLIVAN

BECAUSE of new influences on the world wrought by announcement of German rearmament, and because of the continuing and recently acute influence of unsettlement of international currencies, it is not easy to reduce the economic situation in the United States to simple terms.

The thoughtful who follow events closely must be impressed by a current contradiction in America. On the one hand we have repeated and emphatic predictions of inflation; that is, of much higher prices for goods. On the other hand we have the spectacle of actually falling prices of almost all commodities, except sugar, and of most shares on the stock markets.

It is possible this contradiction may be merely temporary. Falling prices may be the index and signal for a new condition, now in the making, which, when it arrives, might take the form of rapidly rising prices. Violently rising prices do not now, however, seem to be in sight. As a contingent phenomenon of some months, or a year, ahead inflation must be taken into account as a possibility.

One of several developments causing or affecting the present situation in America has to do with N. R. A.; in the beginning N. R. A. undertook to please much of the industry, especially large industry, by conferring the privilege of fixing prices in one degree or another. At the same time it undertook to please labor by fixing minimum wage rates in every industry and by permitting labor, wherever it was strong, to fix relatively high wage rates.

These have been the two main features of N. R. A. As time has passed the privilege of price fixing, in whole or in part, has been whittled away from industry. The relatively high wage rates, however, have kept the foothold N. R. A. gave them. At the present moment we have in many industries relatively high wage rates accompanied by declining prices of the goods manufactured at the high wage rate. This condition can be endured for a time by units of industry that have ample funds in their treasuries. These as a rule are the larger units. The condition is deadly, however, to smaller units of business which have little cash.

In all industry, large and small, much of the labor remains idle because of wage rates higher than that at which goods can be produced at a price consumers are willing and able to pay. Much of labor remains idle at a high wage rate rather than go to work at a lower wage rate. They are intent not on the amount in the pay envelope, but only on the wage rate. This condition is, of course, the negation of prosperity.

As respects A. A. A., late developments include a kind of "buyers strike" against the recently high prices of farm crops. At a time when much of the government is engaged in a vast propagandist attempt to introduce what Mr. Roosevelt calls a "new order," the publications of some government bureaus can hardly have the austere and disinterested accuracy they once had. Nevertheless, one of these cautiously admits the arising of a certain amount of public "consumer resistance" against high cost of living.

As respects cotton, the "buyers strike" is serious and contains the possibility of becoming a permanent condition. What that would mean to the South and to the country hardly needs telling. Foreign buying of American cotton has been reduced to a calamitous degree. Domestic buying is held in check by the high cost of cotton goods, caused by the processing tax and by the government's indirect maintenance of a high price through unlimited loans to raisers at 12 cents a pound.

In this whole complex of conditions, a pertinent question is, are there any new developments in Administration policy? Is there any sign of retreat? Is the Administration disposed to relax its spirit of minute control in either N. R. A. or A. A. A.?

On this point, there is one interesting development, a cleavage of interest. A. A. A. seems willing to get rid of N. R. A. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, willing to admit half the country's troubles—the half that the other fellow is responsible for—says that "if in some way it were possible to turn out 50 per cent more industrial goods at a price definitely lower than the present price, the result would be to give a very material benefit to agriculture, to make it possible for agriculture to buy more with the farm dollar than at present. There then would be more factory workers to be fed in the cities."

Mr. Wallace, however, as respects his own price-raising mechanism, A. A. A., is energetically working to make very large extensions of his power.

Speaking broadly, both N. R. A. and A. A. A. follow the rule of all bureaucracy. They are unwilling to abandon that upon which they exist. If either N. R. A. or A. A. A. are abandoned or materially modified, the action is not likely to come from the bureaucrats. It must come from Congress and the public.

Another large quarrel developed among the majority partymen in the Senate this week when Democratic leader Robinson stirred up the ire of Senator Glass and some colleagues on the committee for settling Congressional differences on the Work Relief measure. Robinson started the fuss when he said: "It is regretable that the custom has prevailed in the Senate of too frequently committing a bill to its enemies." Glass and a number of other members of the committee have threatened to resign, thus bringing this highly controversial measure up against a new snag.

The European Crisis

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE events leading up to the new crisis in Europe have been enacted on a stage which extends east and west from London to Tokio, north and south from Berlin to Rome. They involve all the governments which were engaged in the World War up to April, 1917. The central theme of the drama is the revival of Germany as a great military power inspired by the conviction that the peace settlement must be revised because it does not conform to her needs, her aspirations and her pride. Opinions differ as to whether Germany plans to make war to upset the settlement; it is generally agreed that once Germany has realized her full potential military power, she will dominate the European continent and achieve her ends either by war or by diplomacy backed by the threat of war.

With the advent of Hitler Germany began to rearm. This set in motion several currents in the rest of Europe. The revival of German armaments provoked the revival of the anti-German combination which had been disintegrating in the pre-Hitler period. It provoked new armaments in the countries belonging to that combination. And it stimulated a feverish search for some sort of truce between Germany and her neighbors. It was the formula for such a truce that Sir John Simon was to take to Berlin next week. This is the applecart that Hitler has just upset.

The revival of German armament is a fact, though it is not known, except perhaps in the inner rooms of European diplomacy, precisely how heavily Germany is now armed. That she is well on the way to being fully armed is, however, generally believed.

The revival of the anti-German combination has also proceeded rapidly although there have been setbacks. The first and the most important of the set-backs was the withdrawal of Poland and her turn towards Germany. But except for this, the past year has seen the rise of a coalition of powers which, because they do not wish the settlement to be revised, have a common interest in opposing Nazi Germany.

This coalition has been formed step by step. The French consolidated their alliances with the Little Entente, with Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, and Rumania. A Balkan agreement was arrived at embracing both Bulgaria and Turkey. France and Italy decided to settle their principal differences. Russia entered the League and decided to support the existing frontiers of Europe. Russia untied her hands in the Far East by coming to an agreement with Japan. Negotiations are on foot to settle the differences between Italy and Jugoslavia. Finally, Great Britain, alarmed by the German rearmament and particularly by the German air force, re-entered European politics actively and renewed her entente with France. In all the countries of this combination there is a rapid development of armaments.

To the Germans this armed combination appears as an iron ring which holds them in its grip and might crush them. To the people of the other countries the combination is looked upon as the necessary defense against an armed and aggressive Nazi Germany. This tragic predicament has incalculable dangers for all the nations of Europe.

The effort to resolve it was based upon a formula devised by the British, the French, and the Italians. In substance it was this: The former Allies were prepared to legalize the German re-armament if Germany would renounce aggression and underwrite her renunciation by legalizing the diplomatic combination to resist aggression. Sir John Simon was going to Berlin to say to Hitler: "We are prepared to recognize your armaments if you will not only take a pledge not to use them for aggression but will recognize the right of the rest of Europe to resist if you commit aggression. You say you wish equality in arms but that you are devoted to peace. We offer you legal equality if you will legalize the existing peace."

That this formula created a very difficult dilemma for Hitler was plain. He could end the military servitudes of the Versailles treaty by accepting the territorial terms of that treaty. If he accepted the proposal that Sir John made to him, he would in effect put his own signature to the Versailles treaty minus the sections devoted to military affairs and to reparations. The Allies were offering him a hard bargain: to obtain legal sanctions for the armaments he was creating illegally, Hitler had to give legal sanction to a territorial settlement which makes impossible the fulfillment of his highest ambitions.

Only the optimists ever believed he would accept it. So little confidence did the British, French, and Italians have in his acceptance that without waiting for the negotiations they went ahead with their own re-armament. Hitler, finding himself on the defensive, has now turned and has taken the offensive. He has, so far as Germany is concerned, legalized his own armaments without agreeing to anything that Sir John Simon was

Wanted, Some Drama For a Dragging Legislative Session

Albany—The legislative opus is beginning to drag. Scenery has become frayed, the actors hoarse, and the audience a trifle weary. Drama, old-fashioned drama, is lacking, at the moment, and monotony leads, winning by a yawn. Even the flames of revolt, burning steadily against the foundations of Democratic solidarity, do not make for a study in pyrotechnics. The new-found "Lehman Lash" seems to have been transformed into "a bit of blue ribbon," and while the Democratic marines may have landed, it is not written they have "the situation well in hand." In short, the session needs more excitement, more comedy relief, and perhaps a Sousa march.

Woe in the Democratic Camp

Reapportionment has been the outstanding woe in the Democratic camp this session, and it appears as though it will continue to be so. Redistricting passed the Senate last week by a vote of 27-21, but the grapevine indicated this meant little, the Assembly Chamber having been selected for the scene of the homicide when the measure reappears for the second test. The Senate vote caused reports that previously recalcitrant Senators from Tammany strongholds had switched from nay to aye because first, their Lower House cohorts could be depended upon to massacre Little Goldilocks, and second because word had come to them that certain insurgents might end their days in the judiciary if they could bring themselves to "see the light!" They saw the "light," but if the Assembly does what it is expected to do, it is doubtful if the "faithful" will see the judgeships, or Mr. Farley either. "Big Jim" is funny that way.

As this is written, Gov. Lehman is expected to take his case for reapportionment to the people of the State via the radio. NewYork City's two colored Assemblymen, Andrews and Stephens, are also planning radio talks, it is said, designed to bring home to the taxpayers their views on the "gerrymander of Harlem." It is entirely possible Republican legislators may also go on the air if the Governor attempts to put the G. O. P. on the spot by challenging their contention the present redistricting plan is decidedly unconstitutional. All told life may soon become just one reapportionment speech after another. And meanwhile, Tammany is quietly recruiting more and more votes in the Assembly against the bill, it being said in some quarters the Tiger can now produce twenty negative ballots if it wants to, instead of the ten cast in the first test.

Bigger and Better Woe

The child labor resolution, unemployment insurance, Congressional reapportionment, and legislation relating to New York City taxation and subway unification, are additional subjects which are piling up additional woe for the Democratic majority.

In the first instance, Speaker Irwin Steingut, acting for the Governor, has made several attempts to move the child labor resolution out of the Rules Committee of the Assembly. He has been unable to do so and has now announced he will "demand action this week." It's a good trick, if it works.

Democratic Senators continue their mutiny against the unemployment insurance bill, which revolt was to have been "put down with a firm hand last week. It wasn't and it probably will not be, manufacturers having flooded the legislature with telegrams making known they would move their plants from New York State if the effectiveness of the proposal was not deferred until after Congress adopts a program of and for nation-wide application. When manufacturers talk about moving plants, legislators look thoughtful, particularly when their request is as reasonable as the present one, first suggested by Minority Leader Irving M. Ives, head man of the Assembly Republicans.

Congressional reapportionment is not likely to produce any too much antipathy, but the New York City taxation and subway unification measures have already resulted in combat, with the Governor and Mayor LaGuardia exchanging statements decidedly rugged in character. The Greater City's Mayor is a bad hombre for any caballero to cross swords with, and he does not understand the meaning of "taking it lying down!" Thus trouble looms. And as to adjournment? Why nobody knows about that!

Ives Makes Issue of Anti-Crime Bills

Assemblyman Irving M. Ives, Minority Leader of the Assembly, upset Democratic equilibrium last week when he launched a vitriolic attack upon the Democratic-controlled committees for failing to report out fifteen of the seventeen anti-crime measures sponsored by Attorney-General Bennett. After declaring that the police, prosecutors, and other law-enforcement agencies were hamstrung by inadequate laws striking at racketeering czars, policy barons, overlords of vice trursts and strongarm men who have muscled into legitimate labor unions, Mr. Ives said:

"What is the strange reason for the complete unwillingness of these Democratic legislators to act? Why have they killed these all important bills in committee? What's behind it all? Is it that they are protecting underworld big shots by direction of Tammany district leaders? Is it that they fear the clean-up which would follow? Are we to confess that the power of the underworld is sufficient to deter the legislature from passing needed laws? If this be true, evil days have fallen upon the legislature and its members. If this be true the time has come for members of both houses to give up their seats to the gangs which infest New York."

The day after Mr. Ives made his blistering attack, the Rules Committee reported out three of the bills.

Newell Halts Junior Driver Elimination

Junior operators of automobiles came very close to being legislated off the roads a few days ago when an apparently innocuous measure, proposed by Assemblyman William J. Sheldrick, (Dem) New York City, came up for passage in the Lower House. Ostensibly, the bill merely gave wider powers to the Motor Vehicle Commissioner in the matter of issuing chauffeurs licenses, and was well on the way to passage when Assemblyman Allan Newell, (Rep) of St. Lawrence County, discovered that it cancelled the issuance of junior operator licenses to minors who were sixteen, but not eighteen. Mr. Newell made stormy protest against the bill, and it was amended by Mr. Sheldrick who declared he did not know how the junior driver elimination clause got in the document. The G. O. P., retort was "Oh, yeah?"

Fearon Hits Lehman Milk Policy

Senator George R. Fearon, Minority Leader of the Senate, took a fling at Gov. Lehman's milk policy during debate this week, declaring that by refusing to consent to continuance of the plan providing for full reimbursement to cities for expenditures made in the purchase of milk for the needy and undernourished children, he was striking at the farmers of the State to the tune of more than $1,000,000.

The statement was made when the Governor's unemployment relief bill came up for passage in the Senate. The bill makes available a total of $30,000,000 from bond issue money for unemployment relief this year, and allows milk purchases under reimbursable expenditures. It allows, however, but 40 per cent reimbursement for every $100 spent for milk purchases, and Senator Fearon struck at this provision, declaring it would materially reduce the amount of milk purchased for needy children by the municipalities. He said in part:

"The effect of the Governor's amendment to the unemployment relief act is to repeal the Fearon free milk law for needy and undernourished children and nursing mothers passed last year. The municipalities have always had the right to furnish milk under the unemployment relief act on the basis of $40 reimbursement for each $100 expended. Experience proved they would not spend the money for the purpose.

"The State free milk bill last year increased consumption of milk by needy and undernourished children twenty fold; it put $1,500,000 into the pockets of the producers, and it put thousands of quarts of milk into the 'tummies' of babies and children who needed it most. By insisting on the repeal of this act, the Governor has effectively taken away from producers a market worth to them more than one million dollars, and the effect upon the needy and undernourished children cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

Senator Fearon attempted to amend the Governor's bill so as to continue full distribution of free milk, but his amendment was beaten by a vote of 24 to 23.

County Ripper Bills Advanced

Republican Senators and Assemblymen from Putnam and Ulster Counties are making a vigorous fight against the passage of the Democratic-sponsored bills abolishing the office of Highway Superintendent in both counties and providing for the appointment of County Engineers by members of the Democratic-controlled Board of Supervisors. Both bills are awaiting final passage.

Legislative Morsels

The proposal of Assemblyman Crawford, Queens Democrat, to place a 2c a gallon tax on the refining of crude oil and petroleum, was denounced as "worthy of Huey Long" by Assemblyman Harry E. Goodrich, (Rep) of Allegany County, in a scorching statement.

Assemblyman Horace Stone (Rep) of Syracuse, lead the Assembly attack against the bill increasing the legal age for leaving school from 14 to 16 years; the measure was defeated 67 to 65.

On March 25 the Governor had signed 221 new laws since the session began.

Hairdressers and cosmetologists will be licensed if the Senate passes the same bill as passed the Assembly by a vote of 79 to 46.

By a vote of 103 to 34, and over the Governor's protest, the Assembly passed the bill calling for combined liquor, wine and beer licenses, now separate.

And so goes another week in the legislature, with spring and the solons waiting around for adjournment and summer back home.

I WILL NOT DOUBT

I will not doubt, though all my ships at sea,
Come drifting home with broken masts and sails;
I shall believe the hand that never fails
From seeing evil worketh good for me:
And though I grieve because those sails are battered,
Yet shall I cry while life's best hopes are shattered,
I TRUST IN THEE.
I will not doubt, though all my prayers return,
Unaswered from the still white realm above;
I shall believe an all-wise love
Refuse those things for which I yearn;
And though at times I cannot keep from grieving,
Yet the pure ardor of my fixed believing
Undimmed shall burn.
I will not doubt, though troubles fall like rain,
And sorrows swarm like bees about the hive;
I shall believe the heights for which I strive
Are only reached by anguish and by pain,
And though I groan and tremble 'neath my crosses
Yet shall I see through all the bitter losses,
The greater gain.
I will not doubt, well anchored in the Faith,
Like some staunch ship my soul braves every gale
So strong its courage that it will not fail
To breast the mighty unknown sea of death;
Oh, may I cry when body parts with spirit,,
I DO NOT DOUBT! So listening worlds can hear it
With my last breath.

CHARLES LAUGHTON STARS

English Actor Seen in "Ruggles of Red Gap"

Charles Laughton, eminent English actor, who forged to the forefront of stage and screen stars with a long series of characterization of horrifying and sinster characters, finally wins the opportunity to portray a thoroughly lovable person in the title role of Paramount's "Ruggles of Red Gap" which comes Tuesday to the Fox Theatre.

"Two more years of what I've been through," says Laughton, "and I would have been in some psychopathic word."

For years, cinematically speaking, Laughton has frightened small children Beginning with pictures such as "The Devil and the Deep" and "The Island of Lost Souls", Laughton has poisoned, plotted and beheaded his way until he reaches the climax of his villainous personalities in his extraordinary and artistic Nero in "Sign of the Cross."

"There is a certain temptation in playing parts such as the ones I have played in the past," says Laughton. "I suppose it is because there is something bizarre about the characters which gives the actor latitude and a chance for our imaginative reconstruction of their personalities."

But I need an escape from them. Quite frequently, you know, actors assume the personalities of their most distinguished roles. I don't want to behead my charming wife as poor Henry did. That is one of the reasons why I was glad to get the chance to play 'Ruggles.'

"Besides, I feel that I know just how 'Ruggles' felt when he was transported from England to Red Gap. I felt the same way when I first came to this country. I wanted everyone to like me, and I didn't quite know how to go about it. My experience helped."

In the cast supporting Laughton in "Ruggles of Red Gap" are Mary Boland, Charles Ruggles, Roland Young and ZaSu Pitts. The picture, adapted from Harry Leon Wilson's famous novel, is the story of the American tourists who won an English butler in a poker game and brought him home to show up the four-flushers.

Wayne Bennett Dies At Corning Hospital Following Heart Attack

Well-Known as Cashier at Tuscarora Field—Had Resided Here for Twenty-Three Years — Born in Sabbinsville — Funeral Yesterday at Home of Nephew, Thomas Baker.

Wayne Bennett, a resident of Addison for the past twenty three years, well-known in local and surrounding baseball circles, died Monday morning at the Corning Hospital at 4:50 o'clock. He had suffered from heart trouble for the past seven or eight years.

Mr. Bennett was born June 15th, 1878, at Sabinsville, Pa., the son of Thomas E. and Amy Schoonover Bennett. In early life he worked for many years as a carpenter in Patterson, Passaic and other places in New Jersey. In recent years he had been engaged as a carpenter and paperhanger in Addison and vicinity. He had recently resided at the home of his nephew, Thomas Baker, on Colwell Street.

Mr. Bennett was a former member of Addison Lodge of Odd Fellows and was a retired member of the Phoenix Hose Co. For many years he had been in charge of admissions to the baseball games at Tuscarora Field, home of the Addison Tri-County League Baseball team and he was known to all patrons of the sport throughout this locality. Popular and with a host of friends, he will be greatly missed in the community.

Surviving are: his widow, the former Miss Bessie Brown of Sabinsville, now a resident of Westfield; one brother, William Bennett, of Sabinsville, Pa.; and the following nieces and nephews, Mrs. Charles Walker, Leland, Leslie and Russell Bennett of Addison, Howard Bennett and Mrs. Elon Rice of Wellsboro, Pa., Clive and Elmer Bennett of Sabinsville, Pa., Clyde Baker of Gang Mills Mrs. LaReine Carfoot of Woodbridge, N. J., Mrs. Lena Petsel, Mrs. Charlotte Russell of Patterson, N. J., Mrs. John Platt of DuBois, Pa., Lysle Bennett and Miss Dorothy Bennett of Tioga, Pa.

Father Moffett Talks To Addison Ad Club Men

The Rev. Father Francis Moffet, pastor of St. Catherine's church spoke to the Addison Ad. Club Wednesday, nine months from the day he came to Addison. Father Moffet spoke in highest terms of the fine reception he had received in the village and told of the high spirit of fellowship and good will which exists in the place.

"You have each been a good friend of mine", he said, "I have not asked for a thing I did not get. If you are good to us, the clergy, you cannot help being good to all others. I feel highly honored to be a member of this club—you are men, real men in every sense of the word—true, noble, honest. Let us keep our heads up in these difficult times and try to help the poor fellow who is sinking. We have been promised definite things—our lives should be a composite work of mercy."

At the business meeting the club endorsed the firemen's convention to be held in Addison late in the summer. Fred G. Clark presented a plan for holding services in the Avon Theatre four days of Holy week from 12:30 to 1:00 P. M., merchants of the village being asked to close their places of business during these half hour periods of community worship. Members of the club voted favorably for the plan. Maurice E. Miller spoke on the Liberty Highway Route 17 Association, requesting the manager of the organization and directors from surrounding places be invited to a meeting of the club. BE WHAT MOTHER THINKS YOU ARE

city street, the other day,
I heard a little urchin to a comrade
Turn and say
"Say, Chimmy, lemme tell youse I'd be happy as a clam
If Ionly wuz de feller dat me mudder tinks I am.
She thinks I am a wonder an' she knows her little lad
Could never mix up wit nuthin' dat wuz ugly, mean or bad.
Oh, lots o' times I sit an' tink how nice 'twould be, gee whiz
If a feller wuz de feller dat his mudder t'inks he is.
My friend, be yours a life of toil or undiluted joy,
You still can learn a lesson from this small unlettered boy.
Don't Aim to be an earthly saint with eyes fixed on a star.
Just try to be the feller that your mother thinks you are.

Boy Scouts Will Hike To Old Y. M. C. A. Camp

Members of Boy Scout Troop 27 are laying plans for an overnight hike. The scouts will leave directly after school Friday in charge of the junior officers, Maynard Allen and Robert Dykins. After making the seven mile journey to their destination, the old Y. M. C. A. camp near Goodhue Lake, with the scoutmaster, Wendell Smith, in charge it is likely that a number of tests will be taken.

A total of seventeen scouts and two scouters are now registered for the year. A drive for new members is being conducted by the different patrols. Rivalry exists between the several patrols of the local troop for the honor of bringing in the largest number of new members.

Invincibles Name Team Leaders

Carl Carpenter has been elected manager of the Woodhull Invincibles baseball team for the coming year. He will be assisted by Robert Drake, last year's pilot of the Jasper Aces. Mr. Carpenter was named to succeed Arthur Gee, who was originally chosen for the post, but declared that lack of time would prevent him from undertaking the task for another year.

Robert Elliott was elected field captain of the team. His assistant will be Raymond Horton. William Quick was designated as official bat boy and Roy Munson as press agent.

The Invisibles are expecting to put a strong team in the field and have high hopes of attaining top ranking in the forthcoming pennant chase in the Little Six League. Rivalry for places in the line-up promises to outdo anything seen in recent seasons.

Prospects Look Good for Knights Despite Loss of Vets

Lefty Flynn and Steamboat Smith Look Good for Pitching Berths — Maurice Robbins to Handle Their Shoots—Hallett, Mathews, and Beers will Provide Experienced Infield—Seven Men in Hot Fight for Assignments in Outer Works.

Coach Wendell Hewson's Addison High School baseball prospects look pretty good, despite the fact he has lost from last year's team some particularly outstanding material, including Dick Hovey, shortstop, Blazer Hadlock, fence-busting outfielder and backstop, and two efficient mound artists in Smoky Joe Hopper, the speedball king, Rudy Wade, a portsider of ability. All of these men have passed along with the march of time and through graduation their services are no longer available. Roy Hargrave, last year's regular at the initial bag, has so far failed to report and it is still questionable whether he will be seen at his old stand.

Tested veterans are on hand for many positions, nevertheless. The regular catcher, without doubt, will be Maurice Robbins and at this stage it looks as if Bill Root would get the call for the emergency assignment back of the plate. John Lefty Flynn, a cool and brainy southpaw, is the best bet on the pitching staff. John Steamboat Smith, who proved himself against Elkland last year and Walt Curtis, whose ability is yet to be tested, are the remaining members of the staff.

The only unsettled position in the infield is first base. Right now it rests between Babe Hickey, an outfielder last year, Curt Hulse, former infield sub, and Andrew Long, a freshman aspirant. Bob Hallet at second, Bill Mathews at short and Glenn Beers at third are players whose names speak for themselves. The infield reserves at this stage would appear to be Pete Phillips and Dave Little.

Seven men are contesting for outfield berths. Some of these have been familiar figures in Addison High School sports for a number of years. Those who like a good scrap should watch these candidates fight it out. Lawrence Gardner, Joe Dominick, Don Gillespie, Jimmy Bergin, Wendell Root, Arnold Gable and Wilson Oakden make up this promising array of outfield talent. Others who are out to show their wares and who will no doubt be heard from in future years are Long, Lunger, Hall, Crane, Chase, Clark, Johnson and Jones.

A regular freshman team could be picked from the first-year men who have reported. To hazard a guess, such a combination would look something like this: Smith, pitcher; Root, catcher, Long, first base; Oakden, second base; Heidrick, short; Trekes, third; Dann, Long and Orr in the outfield.

The schedule is complete with the exception of the Elkland game. Although the dates for this contest are not definitely settled it is expected to be played either April 26 or 27.

Team	At	Date
Westfield	Westfield	April 23
C F A	Corning	April 29
N H S	Addison	May 3
Bath	Addison	May 10
Westfield	Addison	May 14

C F A	Addison	May 28
N H S	Corning	May 31
Bath	Bath	June 4
Hornell	Addison	June 7
P P H S	Painted Post	June 14

This schedule is the toughest ever tackled by an Addison High School team. It calls for 14 games including 10 games that have an effect on the league standing. The heaviest season played up to now consisted of 10 games. Well boys, 'let's see you grab the old title and show the world that the harder the fight the better ball Addison can play.

Members of the Rebekah Lodge will sponsor a card party Friday evening, April 5. It will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall. Every one is invited to attend.

Dairy Specialist To Demonstrate Cheese Making

In answer to a number of requests in the county the Steuben County Home Bureau has arranged for a series of 2 district demonstrations on making cheese. These will be given by Dr. H. J. Breuckner of the Department of Dairy Industry from the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. Dr. Breuckner will show in his demonstration the method of making several types of cheese such as the average homemaker might be interested in making in her own home. In addition, Dr. Breuckner will bring with him other kinds of cheese the making of which can not be included in the demonstration but which are adapted to making at home. These include bakers, NeufChatel, cream, and Monterey.

Dr. Breuckner's demonstrations are scheduled in Kanona on Thursday, April 11th, beginning at 1:30 at the church. On the second day the demonstration will be repeated at the Baptist church in Troupsburg. This meeting will begin with a lunch served by the local Home Bureau and the demonstration will immediately follow the lunch. Both meetings are open to all interested men and women in the county. These cheese demonstrations have been a popular feature at Farm and Home Week in Ithaca for several years and the opportunity of having the material given right in Steuben County is a rare one. It is hoped that many will take advantage of the demonstrations.

Dairy Banquet Speaker States Records Essential To Success

'Only three bulls in ten maintain the production of the cows to which they are bred, the other seven tear down production, 'stated J. C. Nisbet guest speaker at the Dairy Banquet held in Bath Thursday.

One hundred-fifty dairymen from all parts of Steuben County, mostly members of the dairy herd improvement associations attended the occasion to hear Mr. Nisbet, who is associate editor of Hoard's Dairyman and one of the foremost livestock men in the United States.

'The selection of the herd sire is the most important single thing done on the dairy farm,' stated Mr. Nisbet, 'The type of bull used determines the future income of the herd owner, his success or failure.'

Recommends Testing Bulls

No man alive can tell by looking at a bull whether he will tear down or build production, Mr. Nisbet said and proved his statement with actual cases. Progress in the development of profitable dairy herds can be made only by 'testing' bulls, by discarding the poor ones, and maintaining in service those that transmit good production to their offspring.

'Continuous records of production are an absolute essential to success,' declared Mr. Nisbet. 'The information they provide make it possible to feed effectively, to discard the poor producers and to carry out a constructive breeding program.'

Members Elect

Members of the Southern Steuben dairy herd improvement association chose Robert Dann of Painted Post as president; Geo. Stuart, Lindley, vice-president; Sheldon Stewart, Addison; Lloyd Brotzman of Woodhull as directors.

The Western Steuben association elected John Atherton of Adrian as president; Harlo Atherton, Adrian; John Flanagan, Hornell and Benjamin Potter of Troupsburg as directors.

Clair Bennett of Howard; Smith Bielby, Bath; and I. J. Calkins of Avoca are executive committee members of the Cohocton Valley association. Murray Barnes of Avoca is secretary; Burton Ketch, Wallace, vice-president and A. W. Norris of Kanona, president.

There are now 97 herds and 1556 cattle enrolled in the dairy herd improvement associations and the dairy record club, an increase of 60 per cent in the past year. This service, which provides accurate information of the production of each individual cow in the dairy herd, is offered by the Steuben County Farm Bureau at a nominal cost.

The European Crisis

going to include in his requests.

This very bold stroke has undoubtedly put the Allies in a position as uncomfortable as that which Hitler was in when confronted with the proposed truce. They have been defied. Hitler has taken the very thing they were trying to sell him at a high price. He has what he wanted and he has given up nothing in return. And they have now to decide what they will do about it.

It would be foolish to attempt to guess the outcome. One can be certain only that the tension in Europe will be greatly increased and that the race of armaments will be intensified. What will come of this no man can say. If the Allies write notes and do nothing further, they will appear impotent and they will have to face the danger that as Germany grows stronger in arms and in prestige, their own combination will grow weaker. If they meet Hitler's challenge by occupying the Rhineland, they take incalculable risks. If they meet the challenge by strengthening their armaments and their alliances, the chances of a great European war are enormously increased. If they accept the accomplished fact and go on to negotiate with Hitler for some kind of truce, they will feel that they have postponed the crisis without softening it.

However it is regarded, the decision which the European nations have to take now is weighted with responsibilities that are awful to contemplate.

Award Prizes For Bull Judging

First prize in the bull judging contest was awarded W. W. Ketch of Wallace at the Dairy Banquet of March 28. There was a triple tie for second place between Glenn Prutsman of Troupsburg; Paul Flanagan of Hornell and Burton Ketch of Wallace.

Honors for the next highest were divided between C. A. Crans of Rathbone and Vincent Kurtz of Cohocton. Others to place were C. J. Tompkins, Addison; Leon Dennis, Canisteo; Verne Parker, Avoca; Wm. Burnside, Troupsburg; Chas. Noble of Prattsburg; and J. F. White, Bath.

The event was conducted by the Steuben County Farm Bureau to demonstrate the difficulty of selecting bulls. The pictures and the records of the immediate ancestors of 11 bulls, all of which had been used in a single herd, were furnished.

Even with this information, the best score was only 45%, and the average of all selections was 8% correct. J. C. Nisbet, speaker at the recent Steuben County Dairymen's Banquet stated that the best judge in the United States made a score of only 40%, with the same set of bulls.

The results of the contest show the need of 'proving' bulls by keeping continuous records on the herd and comparing the production of the daughters to that of their dams and then making the largest possible use of bulls that transmit high production.

Boy Scout Financial Campaign Will Be Concluded Next Week

The five weeks' financial campaign for the support of the Steuben Area Council of Boy Scouts of America which was launched in Bath on March 11 will be concluded next week. The campaign was preceded by an area wide gathering of scouters to hear an inspiring address by District Attorney Nathan D. Laphan of Geneva.

Both Mr. Lthan and his associate, Council President Charles S. Wilson of Hall, referred to the success of a similar campaign in the area of the Finger Lakes Council. During the past week Division Chairman P. G. Schumacher of Cohocton released some figures from the final report of the campaign by the Finger Lakes Area.

Naples paid $398, Clifton Springs $520, Bristol Springs $98. "These amounts reported by our neighbors make our task in the Steuben Area look easy indeed" is Mr. Schumacher's comment.

All divisions of the local council will make a report on the campaigns through General Chairman K. E. Plants of Hornell at a dinner in Dansville on Monday evening, April 8. That night the Dansville division moves into action. A dinner meeting has been arranged by Division Chairman John M. Weaver. The sole speaker will be Dr. Frank L. Christian, Superintendent of Elmira Reformatory, and past President of the Elmira Area Council Boy Scouts of America. It is expected that Dansville will complete the campaign on April 12. The Dansville goal is $980 and represents the largest single community in the Steuben Area outside of the two chest cities.

Last year the community of greater Corning paid $4,404 and Hornell paid $3,057. These two cities raise substantially two thirds of the council budget and have done so for the past ten years. Prior to that time they raised it all.

It was not known at noon today if any local representatives would attend the dinner in Dansville on Monday April 8. All local troop leaders will be in attendance at the Council Training School in Bath that night. The Training School reached a new high in attendance this past week with over 180 men present. Assistant Fred D. Quinn assumed command under direction of the Rev. John Gilbert Spencer who is chairman of the Training Committee for the council. The speaker at Bath Monday last was Scout Executive Percy L. Dunn who spoke on the subject of "Council Services to Troop Leaders". The following local leaders are enrolled in the training course at Bath: Maynard B. Allen, Milton H. Crane, Ralph B. Dykins, Robert Dykins, Wendell O. Smith.

J. M. O'Keefe to Manage Tri-Cos

Former Professional Player, Long Prominent and Active in Southern Tier Baseball, To Succeed Burrell Vastbinder—To Enter Team In Little Six.

John M. O'Keefe, long active and prominent in Addison and in Tri-County League baseball circles and for many years a professional and semi-professional player, was chosen to manage the Addison team at an organization meeting last Friday night. The selection of Mr. O'Keefe followed the announcement of Burrell Vastbinder, who managed the team during the latter part of last year, that he would not have time during the coming season to carry on the work. He emphasized that he would give all possible assistance to whoever was chosen in his place.

Much discussion centered upon the subject of providing shade for spectators at the games this summer. The matter was finally settled by Mr. O'Keefe's appointment of Peter Laffkas as a committee of one to investigate the possiblity of obtaining grandstand facilities at a minimum expense.

Consideration was given to the subject of entering a team in the Little Six League. Many players are now available for the local nine whose inexperience prevents them from gaining a place in the regular line-up. It was the opinion of the meeting that the entry of a team in the Little Six would provide an outlet for the talents of these reserve players. Harold V. Stowell was named to manage and have charge of all matters pertaining to this secondary team.

Present at the meeting were: Richard Willis, Gerald Heidrick, Harold Hibbard, Joe Hopper, Frank Finnerty, Wendell Hewson, Pete Laffkas, Harold Stowell, John Grange, John M. O'Keefe, Burrell Vastbinder, Richard Hovey, Rathbun Stewart and Ralph Wade.

BANCROFT IS KING IN "BLOOD MONEY"

Two women vie for George Bancroft's affections in "Blood Money," his new picture which comes Friday and Saturday to the Avon Theatre.

The two actresses are Judith Anderson, New York stage star, and pretty Frances Dee, charming ingenue from Hollywood.

Heretofore in his pictures Bancroft has had to battle for his women, but in "Blood Money" he enjoys the novel experience of having two personable young ladies "go for him."

Strangely enough, Bancroft is so enraked at the devious machinations of both women that blood lust dims his eyes and thoughts of murder flit across his expressive face whenever he considers them.

With Bancroft double-crossed by both women, there are some highly dramatic twists for jaded theatregoers in "Blood Money," which is Bancroft's first picture under his new contract with 20th Century Pictures.

The drama of "Blood Money" centers around a bail bond king whose office on jail row, across the way from a prison such as might be found in any large city, is the real capital of the underworld.

From this office mayors are named, councilmen elected, judges slipped into their spots, crooks helped, thieves gypped, scarlet ladies relieved of their jewels, murderers given a helping hand and society girls offered a real thrill. Bancroft has the role of the underworld king, "Bail Bond Bailey."

Judith Anderson has the role of Bancroft's aide in the underworld, a clever business woman whose brain supplements that of her pals. Delightful Frances Dee is cast as a society kleptomaniac who gets her thrills consorting with underworld chieftains and doing a little chicanery herself.

"Blood Money," a United Artists release, presented by Joseph M. Schenck and Darry Zanuck, was written and directed by Rowland Brown.

STORIES OF HYMNS WE LOVE

WONDERFUL WORDS OF LIFE
Music and Words by Philip Bliss

After Fanny Crosby, Philip Bliss is considered the best of gospel song writers. He loved music so much that his friends said he loved music like a bird. His parents were poor and it seemed as if his love for song would be crushed out. When a child, without being taught, he would fashion rude instruments on which he would make music. When he was about ten years old he was passing a house he heard a piano being played for the first time in his life, he was so thrilled, even though ragged and dirty as he was, he walked right into the house where the woman was playing; she was so startled, when she stopped, to find a bare-foot urchin at her elbow who said O lady play some more please.

Not realizing the child's hunger for music she ordered him out of the house. He was not made of the stuff that is easily daunted. While still a youth he sent a song that he had written to Mr. George Root at that time one of the best known composers, asking for a flute in return if the song was good. Mr. Root sent the flute. An acquaintance began which later resulted in Bliss becoming a musician an evenvangelist to-gether with Root and Ira D. Sankey. Inspiration came to him quickly, any impressive event or story that he chanced to hear or read would suggest a theme to him for a song.

In 1870 he heard related an incident of the Civil War which General Sherman signalled a message to the soldiers defending the garrison at Altoona Pass, Georgia, Hold the Fort I am Coming. At once Bliss caught up the words and wrought them into the song "Hold The Fort I Am Coming", the song that is used in our churches today. He also wrote "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning," "Almost Persuaded", "What Will The Harvest Be," "It Is Well With My Soul' 'and many others.

When Bliss was only 38 years old he and his wife were killed in a terrible rail road accident at Ashtabula, Ohio. He got out from the wreck but perished in trying to rescue his wife. A monument was erected to his memory at Rome, Penna., his boyhood home.

SEARCHING FOR SOMETHING

He is about fifty-five years old but he looks and acts like a man of seventy.

Up to five years ago he had been engaged in active business and had accumulated a snug fortune. At that time he disposed of his business, cut all of his work strings and started on a search of happiness.

Of course the first thing to do was to travel. He liked California fairly well, but his wife did not, so they went to Florida. He hated hot weather, so they tripped up to Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

He said the climate in those northern resorts was all right in the summer, but the fishing wasn't very good and he never cared much for fishing anyway and so they were both dead tired they came back home.

He walks up and down the street, he loiters. He occasionally drops into a friend's store or office and while they greet him cordially, nevertheless he senses that they are busy, and he feels that he is in the way; so he drives out to the Club. His friends whom he would like to play golf with are not there; he knocks the ball around for an hour, goes back, hangs up his hat and gets on his wife's nerves.

He is searching for something, looking for something he lost when he gave up his work.

Among those attending the School of Instruction of Steuben District, Order of Eastern Star, held in Bath, Saturday were: Mrs. Peter Laffkas, Mrs. Lattimer Brewster, Mrs. Leah M. Brown, Mrs. Simon Hickey and Mrs. A. B. Chatfield.
